HUGS From Heaven

My Hugs from Heaven come in so many different forms. Sometimes it's a phone call or a visit or a something I read or even a flooded house. But sometimes it's something as simple as a feather.

It's been 25 years since God first sent me a hug in the form of a feather. I was responsible for a lot of things back then and was also planning a big state wide celebration for Stephen F. Austin's (the father of Texas) 200th birthday. It was on a Saturday morning a month before the event and we were preparing for a big photo shoot that day. Early that morning while going out to feed my pet pigmy goats, I looked up and the skies looked like rain was coming for sure. I began to worry. We had volunteers coming from several counties in colonial costume to participate in this and I had 100 big Texas flags to get out and display before they arrived.

I was grumbling out loud to God asking Him what I should do – put out the flags or reschedule the photo shoot. I was very frustrated and unsure of the right thing to do because of the weather. Looking down as I walked I noticed a beautiful white fluffy feather partially stuck in the dewy grass, but waving vigorously at me. It seemed to say “Yoo-hoo, stop for a minute and look at me.” When I stopped to pick up the feather, I remembered Jesus' words from Matthew 6: 25 - 33, “That is why I tell you not to worry about everyday life—whether you have enough food and drink, or enough clothes to wear. Isn't life more than food, and your body more than clothing? Look at the birds. They don't plant or harvest or store food in barns, for your heavenly Father feeds them. And aren't you far more valuable to him than they are? Can all your worries add a single moment to your life? And why worry about your clothing? Look at the lilies of the field and how they grow. They don't work or make their clothing, yet Solomon in all his glory was not dressed as beautifully as they are. And if God cares so wonderfully for wildflowers that are here today and thrown into the fire tomorrow, he will certainly care for you. Why do you have so little faith? So don't worry about these things, saying, ‘What will we eat? What will we drink? What will we wear?’ These things dominate the thoughts of unbelievers, but your heavenly Father already knows all your needs. Seek the Kingdom of God above all else, and live righteously, and he will give you everything you need.”

After I fed the goats, I immediately went and put out all of the big Texas flags and by the time everyone had arrived for the pictures, the sun was shining beautifully.

Later I got to thinking how stupid that feather thing sounded. I live in the country and I could find a feather anywhere if I looked. But I was wrong. I looked for what seemed to be 30 minutes and never could find another feather. I was convinced that really was God's way of sending me a big hug for the day reminding me of His promises.

I seemed to do a lot of grumbling in those days, and it never failed that when the grumbling started I found some kind of feather sometimes in the most unexpected places from the 7th floor of a hospital in Houston to downtown Austin standing straight up in grass at a government building.

It's been over 25 years and I am still finding feathers today and I always know it is God reminding me that He always knows what's best for me and He's still taking care of me. That is also a promise He makes to all of us when we trust Him.

May God bless each of you with your own special hug.

Innocent Eyes

A merry heart doeth good like a medicine.
Proverbs 17:22

A college professor asked his class a question.

"If Philadelphia is 100 miles from New York and Chicago is 1000 miles from Philadelphia and Los Angeles is 2000 miles from Chicago, how old am I?"

One student in the back of the class raised his hand and when called upon said, "Professor you're 44."

The Professor said, "You're absolutely correct, but tell me, how did you arrive at the answer so quickly?"

The student said, "You see professor, I have a brother; he's 22, and he's only half crazy."

A young man, fresh out of college, went to see his doctor one day.

"Doc, there's something wrong with me. Every time I stand in a baby's high chair and face southwest, and then touch my tongue to a piece of aluminum foil that's wrapped around an acorn, I get a strange tingle in my big toe. Can you tell me what the problem is?"

"Sure!" The doctor said.

"You have way too much time on your hands!"

A man was on his way home with a new car, which was absorbing all his attention, when it struck him that he had forgotten something.

Twice he stopped, counted his parcels, searched his pockets, but finally decided he had everything with him. Yet the feeling persisted.

When he reached home his daughter ran out, stopped short, and cried: "Daddy, where's Mommy?"

It was the first camping experience for Jed.

As soon as he had pitched his tent, he went for a hike in the woods. In about fifteen minutes he rushed back into camp, bleeding and disheveled.

"What happened?" asked a fellow camper.

"I was chased by a black snake!" cried the frightened Jed.

The camper laughed and retorted, "A black snake isn't deadly."

"Listen," groaned Jed, "If he can make you jump off a fifty-foot cliff, he is!"

The minister gave his Sunday morning service, as usual, but this particular Sunday, it was considerably longer than normal.

Later, at the door, shaking hands with parishioners as they moved out, one man said, "Your sermon, Pastor, was simply wonderful - so invigorating and inspiring and refreshing."

The minister of course, broke out in a big smile, only to hear the man say, "Why I felt like a new man when I woke up!"

When I went to get my driver's license renewed, our local motor-vehicle bureau was packed.

The line inched along for almost an hour until the man ahead of me finally got his license.

He inspected his photo for a moment and commented to the clerk, "I was standing in line so long, I ended up looking pretty grouchy in this picture."

The clerk looked at his picture closely.

"It's okay," he reassured the man, "That's how you're going to look when the cops pull you over anyway."

A knight and his men return to their castle after a long hard day of fighting.

"How are we faring?" asks the king. "Sire," replies the knight, "I have been robbing and pillaging on your behalf all day, burning the towns of your enemies in the west."

"What?!" shrieks the king. "I don't have any enemies to the west!"

"Oh, no..." says the knight. "Well, you do now."

A nearsighted minister glanced at the note that Mrs. Jones had sent to him by an usher.

The note read: "Bill Jones having gone to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation for his safety."

Failing to observe the punctuation, he startled his audience by announcing:

"Bill Jones, having gone to see his wife, desires the prayers of the congregation for his safety."

As a young preacher, my small church had limited facilities, so we held baptisms in a creek. With alligators in the area, however, that was less than ideal.

Then a minister friend suggested I bring my next group of baptismal candidates to his church for a joint baptismal service. Naturally, I accepted.

The baptismal pool had a clear front so the congregation could see everything. When the baptisms were finished, curtains were drawn, and I was left alone in the pool for a moment. The building had no air conditioning, and it was quite hot. I thought how nice it would feel to take a little dip. I glided to one end, turned, and backstroked to the other end.

Hearing a riotous uproar in the church, I looked toward the congregation.

The curtain was down only to the top of the glass! An astonished and amused congregation had been watching my every move.

"This house," said the real estate salesman, "has both its good points and its bad points. To show you I'm honest, I'm going to tell you about both.

The disadvantages are that there is a chemical plant one block south and a slaughterhouse a block north."

"What are the advantages?" inquired the prospective buyer.

"The advantage is that you can always tell which way the wind is blowing."

Three men worked in the Empire State Building on the 102nd floor.

One day the elevator was out of service, so they had to walk up to their office. To pass the time, they decided that one would sing a song, one would tell a joke, and the third would tell a sad story - each taking a turn every floor until they reached the top.

Finally, as they reached the 100th floor, one man sang his last song. As they reached the 101st floor, the second guy told his last joke. As they ascended the flight to the 102nd floor, the third man said, "I forgot the key."

A woman walking down a residential street, noticed a little old man rocking in a chair on his porch. She called out to him as she passed.

"Hello there! I couldn't help but notice how happy you look. What's your secret for a long happy life?"

"I smoke three packs of cigarettes a day," he replied. "I also drink a case of whiskey a week, eat nothing but fast food, and never exercise."

"Wow!" The woman was amazed. "How old are you?" she asked.

"Twenty-six," he replied.

One Giant Leap for Mankind

On July 21, 1969, 47 years ago Buzz Aldrin and Neil Armstrong changed history by walking on the surface of the moon. Buzz Aldrin was an elder at his Presbyterian Church in Texas during this period in his life and knowing that he would soon be doing something unprecedented in human history, he felt he should mark the occasion somehow. He asked his minister to help him. And so the minister consecrated a communion wafer and a small vial of communion wine. Buzz Aldrin took them with him out of the Earth's orbit and on to the surface of the moon. He and Armstrong had only been on the lunar surface for a few minutes when Aldrin made the following public statement:

"This is the LM pilot. I'd like to take this opportunity to ask every person listening in, whoever and wherever they may be, to pause for a moment and contemplate the events of the past few hours and to give thanks in his or her own way." He then ended radio communication and there, on the silent surface of the moon, 250,000 miles from home, he read a verse from the Gospel of John and he took communion.

Here is Buzz's account of what happened: "In the radio blackout, I opened the little plastic packages which contained the bread and the wine. I poured the wine into the chalice our church had given me. In the one-sixth gravity of the moon, the wine slowly curled and gracefully came up the side of the cup. Then I read the scripture from John 15:5

Are We Like Sheep?

One of my daily chores when I lived with my grandfather in northern Ghana was taking care of sheep. Each morning I took them out to pasture and returned by evening. That was when I first noticed how stubborn sheep can be. Whenever they saw a farm, for instance, their instinct drove them right into it, getting me in trouble with the farmers on a number of occasions. Sometimes when I was tired from the heat and resting under a tree, I observed the sheep dispersing into the bushes and heading for the hills, causing me to chase after them and scratching my skinny legs in the shrubs. I had a hard time directing the animals away from danger and trouble, especially when robbers sometimes raided the field and stole stray sheep.

So I quite understand when Isaiah 53:6 says, "We all, like sheep, have gone astray, each of us has turned to our own way." We stray in many ways: desiring and doing what displeases our Lord, hurting other people by our conduct, and being distracted from spending time with God and His Word because we are too busy or lack interest. We behave like sheep in the field.

"Fortunately for us, we have the Good Shepherd who laid down His life for us (John 10:11). And as our shepherd, He calls us back to safe pasture that we might follow Him more closely. If you want God to lead you, be willing to follow!

A Lesson Learned from Zeke

Six years ago, a rambunctious black lab pup entered our lives and literally destroyed everything that was not tied down in our back yard and back porch and even some things that were tied down, including the porch swing and wooden door. It was almost like he needed any chew toy he could find and if he couldn't find a real toy, he used whatever was available---spoons, wooden pot handles, shoes, vacuum cleaner, plastic dishes—like I said, whatever was available. We named the whirlwind Ezekiel, meaning “God will strengthen him,” and we called him Zeke for short. Any time we found the gnawed remains of things that once held value, we knew Zeke had been in action again. Once I had found two young pullets laid out on the ramp to the back porch. They never made that mistake again because they were dead as doornails and I was mad enough to spit nails! When would his reign of destruction end?

Slowly, imperceptibly, he started to outgrow the chew stage, and became more docile. Zeke had always been friendly, but now he had a more mature friendliness. By the time he was three, he was a pretty decent pet and well worth having. And then something happened to change the course of his life forever.

One night about 2 in the morning, we awoke to the sound of a serious fight with lots of growling in our front yard. My husband grabbed the gun like Jed Clampett and went to see what the raucous was all about. Two figures tangled with each other, one grey or white and the other undistinguishable. He shot a couple of times to scare the culprits and one ran off. That was the last we heard of the fighting for that night. The next day, however, we found clues that helped us figure out what had happened. To our great surprise, we discovered that Zeke had definitely been involved.

Zeke was always in our fenced in back yard, so we hadn't really expected him to be injured, but the evidence we found proved otherwise. Somehow he had gotten out of the pen to face his nocturnal adversary. He had managed to get back into the yard, but it must have been a struggle. A trail of blood led through the grass and up the back ramp and Zeke, who was usually on the move, seemed to be bleeding. On closer inspection, he was injured, but we didn't know just how badly. We left him alone, thinking he would heal on his own. But after a couple of days, he was becoming listless and looked like he might be on his last legs. We decided to bite the bullet financially, get him to the vet, and try to save his life. After all, the Bible admonishes men to care for their animals.

Before we left for the vet (and even before we got there), we prayed for him, as we have prayed for sickly pets in the past. When we arrived at the vet's clinic and they made their official assessment, we realized his healing was going to take a miracle. Zeke, the nuisance, was now Zeke, the prayed for. He had a hole under his neck the size of a cantaloupe, so big that the doctors wouldn't even be able to stitch him up. There were holes in his back thigh and you could see his windpipe and other internal body parts. He offered no resistance as the medical team began their work on him. When they tried to cleanse the wounds, water went in through one hole and squirted out another. This happened in several locations, but they persisted.

It took a while, ten long days to be sure, but once the treatment began, his body responded and the impossible became possible, fortified with prayer. The gaping hole began to shrink until it was as small as a quarter. After days of intense medical care in the veterinary clinic and more than $1000 expense, we were able to take him home and nurse him to complete healing. Zeke's attitude changed from one of mischievous pleasure to becoming one of the huggiest, lovingest canines around. He became what my son and I called a canine version of “Baby Huey,” really big, but oh, so lovable!

Now we can't step into our yard without this big guy jumping up on the rail and putting his head on our chests. He demands not just “A” hug, but bunches of hugs each time he sees us. He keeps begging for more until we finally relent and give him his fill.

He loves to run free in the yard from time to time, but it has caused me some pain. Once, after I had knee replacement surgery for each leg, I was working outside and had set him loose for a bit. As I walked on the slick pavement in the garage, Zeke the Wonder Dog ran past me and hit the back of legs. Bam! I hit the concrete smack dab on my rear end and thought I had twisted my new knees as I went down. Well, it turned out the knees were okay, but I had broken my tail bone. Another time, I was outside with my husband and Zeke was out for a romp. Imagine my frustration as the Gentle Giant ran past me and knocked me down for a second time, this time knocking me flat on my back on the hard earth. It's hard to get upset at him for such displays of unbounded joy, knowing how thankful he is to still be around.

Remember how I said he had killed 2 of my chickens several years ago? That must have been part of his juvenile stage because now he shares his dog food with two ducks who live in the back yard with him and doesn't get upset at them unless he's really hungry for that night's menu. The Rhode Island reds we have now don't even faze him. He doesn't bother the ducks or the chickens at all.

Looking at Zeke, I think of the thankful leper in the Bible or the lame man who went jumping and leaping and praising God. He may be just a dog, but he has such a deep thankfulness. We never realized how prophetic his name would be, because God did strengthen him. The Bible says if people don't praise God that the rocks and stones will cry out. Although Zeke is not made of rocks or stones, his attitude cries out with praise to God. It's a lesson that we all need to remember and it took a dog named Ezekiel to show us the way.

"I had intended to read my communion passage back to earth, but at the last minute NASA had requested that I not do this. They were already embroiled in a legal battle with Madelyn Murray O'Hare, the celebrated opponent of religion, over the Apollo 8 crew reading from Genesis while orbiting the moon at Christmas. I agreed reluctantly."

"I ate the tiny Host and swallowed the wine. I gave thanks for the intelligence and spirit that had

"And of course, it's interesting to think that some of the first words spoken on the moon were the words of Jesus Christ, who made the Earth and the moon.

Is it a waste of time?

A Church goer wrote a letter to the editor of a newspaper and complained that it made no sense to go to church every Sunday. He wrote: "I've gone for 30 years now, and in that time I have heard something like 3,000 sermons, but for the life of me, I can't remember a single one of them. So, I think I'm wasting my time, the preachers and priests are wasting theirs by giving sermons at all." This started a real controversy in the "Letters to the Editor" column. Much to the delight of the editor, it went on for weeks until someone wrote this clincher: "I've been married for 30 years now. In that time my wife has cooked some 32,000 meals.

But, for the life of me, I cannot recall the entire menu for a single one of those meals. But I do know this: They all nourished me and gave me the strength I needed to do my work. If my wife had not given me these meals, I would be physically dead today. Likewise, if I had not gone to church for nourishment, I would be spiritually dead today!" When you are DOWN to nothing, God is UP to something! Faith sees the invisible, believes the incredible & receives the impossible! Thank God for our physical and our spiritual nourishment! IF YOU CANNOT SEE GOD IN ALL, YOU CANNOT SEE GOD AT ALL! B. I. B. L. E. simply means: Basic Instructions Before Leaving Earth!

Coconut Poke Cake

INGREDIENTS

- 1 package white cake mix, plus ingredients listed on box to prepare cake
- 1 (14 ounce) can cream of coconut
- 1 (14 ounce) can sweetened condensed milk
- 1 (8 ounce) container frozen whipped topping, thawed
- 1 cup shredded coconut

DIRECTIONS

1. Prepare and bake white cake mix according to package directions for a 9x13 inch cake.
2. In a medium bowl, whisk together the cream of coconut and sweetened condensed milk.
3. Remove cake from oven and place on a cooling rack. While still hot, use a skewer to poke holes all over the top of the cake.
3. Spoon the cream of coconut and sweetened condensed milk mixture over the cake while the cake is still hot.
4. Let cake cool completely. Top with whipped topping and shredded coconut.
5. Cover and refrigerate overnight before serving.

NOTE

Cream of Coconut is typically found near cocktail mixers as it is often used to make Pina Coladas. Look for the brand Coco Lopez.

The Greatest Gift

here's a myth in today's world that says, "All religions basically teach the same thing." People erroneously believe that all roads lead to God. But the truth is that there is only one way to God. And that way is Jesus.

The biggest difference that separates Christianity from all other religions in the world is the fact that God did the work to save us. There is nothing we can do to earn our way to God; it is simply a gift from Him through His son, Jesus. Have you accepted that gift? Are you pointing others to it?

Thank God for providing the only way back to Him. If you've tried to earn your way to God, ask Him to forgive you for that. And pray for strength to help others discover that the only path back to God is through Jesus!

Write this on a card and carry it with you as a reminder of the difference between Christianity and other religions: Religion is spelled "d-o"; Christianity is spelled "d-o-n-e"!

Jesus answered, "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me." John 14:6

Finally, all of you, be like-minded, be sympathetic, love one another, be compassionate and humble. Do not repay evil with evil or insult with insult. On the contrary, repay evil with blessing, because to this you were called so that you may inherit a blessing. For,

"Whoever would love life and see good days must keep their tongue from evil and their lips from deceitful speech. They must turn from evil and do good; they must seek peace and pursue it.

For the eyes of the Lord are on the righteous and his ears are attentive to their prayer, but the face of the Lord is against those who do evil."

My Attorney

After living what I felt was a "decent" life, my time on earth came to the end. The first thing I remember is sitting on a bench in the waiting room of what I thought to be a court house.

The doors opened and I was instructed to come in and have a seat by the defense table. As I looked around I saw the "prosecutor".

He was a villainous looking gent who snarled as he stared at me. He definitely was the most evil person I have ever seen.

I sat down and looked to my left and there sat My Attorney, a kind and gentle looking man whose appearance seemed so familiar to me, I felt I knew Him.

The corner door opened and there appeared the Judge in full flowing robes.

He commanded an awesome presence as He moved across the room. I couldn't take my eyes off of Him.

As He took His seat behind the bench, He said, "Let us begin."

The prosecutor rose and said, "My name is Satan and I am here to show you why this man belongs in hell."

He proceeded to tell of lies that I told, things that I stole, and In the past when I cheated others. Satan told of other horrible perversions that were once in my life, and the more he spoke, the further down in my seat I sank.

I was so embarrassed that I couldn't look at anyone, even my own Attorney, as the Devil told of sins that even I had completely forgotten about.

As upset as I was at Satan for telling all these things about me, I was equally upset at My Attorney who sat there silently not offering any form of defense at all.

I know I had been guilty of those things, but I had done some good in my life - couldn't that at least equal out part of the harm I'd done?

Satan finished with a fury and said, "This man belongs in hell, he is guilty of all that I have charged and there is not a person who can prove otherwise."

When it was His turn, My Attorney first asked if He might approach the bench. The Judge allowed this over the strong objection of Satan, and beckoned Him to come forward.

As He got up and started walking, I was able to see Him in His full splendor and majesty.

I realized why He seemed so familiar; this was Jesus representing me, my Lord and my Savior.

He stopped at the bench and softly said to the Judge, 'HI, DAD', and then He turned to address the court.

"Satan was correct in saying that this man had sinned, I won't deny any of these allegations. And, yes, the wage of sin is death, and this man deserves to be punished."

Jesus took a deep breath and turned to His Father with outstretched arms and proclaimed, "However, I died on the cross so that this person might have eternal life and he has accepted Me as his Savior, so he is Mine."

My Lord continued with, "His name is written in the Book of Life, and no one can snatch him from Me. Satan still does not understand yet. This man is not to be given justice, but rather mercy."

As Jesus sat down, He quietly paused, looked at His Father and said, "There is nothing else that needs to be done. I've done it all."

The Judge lifted His mighty hand and slammed the gavel down. The following words bellowed from His lips: "This man is free. The penalty for him has already been paid in full. Case dismissed."

I asked Jesus as He gave me my instructions where to go next, "Have you ever lost a case?"

Christ lovingly smiled and said, "Everyone that has come to Me and asked Me to represent them has received the same verdict as you--Paid In Full."

If you do not pass this along to 15 people immediately, absolutely nothing will happen.

But, passing this on to anyone you consider a friend will bless you both.

Where Love Abounds

God Bless
America

*God bless America the home of the free,
And God bless the ones who fought to give that right to me.
God bless America and everything that we stand for,
And God bless the ones who are still fighting so many wars.
God bless America please guide us every day,
And I pray we never ever forget the price so many paid.
God bless America who reaches out to everyone,
And please let others never forget for them what we have done.
God bless America and keep us close to you,
And help us to never forget to thank you for all that you do.
God bless America that you helped build for us,
And remind us if we ever forget that it's in you God we can trust.*

Heart Trouble

Ed, our oldest son, now a pastor in Dallas, was born while Jo Beth and I served in a small North Carolina textile community. A midwife stayed with us. She was a godly woman, so one Thursday, desperate for a preaching topic, I asked her, "What's the best sermon you ever heard?"

"It was on 'heart trouble,'" she replied.

"What was the text?" I asked.

"John 14!" she answered. We may be focused on physical heart trouble, but God's concern is that the spiritual heart not be troubled. If it is well, our whole being will be untroubled.

"Peace I leave with you; My peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give to you. Do not let your heart be troubled, nor let it be fearful." - John 14:27
